

A Diary

On Friday, our school had a running race. We are all happy. We arrived before seven o'clock. The race started then. A student suddenly had stomach ache and felt sick. I saw my friend. He also liked running. He joined my group. The race started. We finished the running race. My group won the race. It was a happy day.